Supervisors Complete Busy April Meeting

FAIL TO AGREE ON PLANS FOR CO. ROAD WORK

Supervisors Postponed Action on Question Until June Meet

Closing Session Supervisors' Meet

At the closing session of the organization meeting of the Lee County Supervisors Wednesday afternoon the board—

Failed to agree on a plan for road and bridge work this summer; Ordered alterations to provide needed additional storage space in the office of the County Recorder; Re-engaged Mr. and Mrs. Willis M. Frye as superintendent and matron of the County Home; Appropriated $5,000 for special bovine tuberculosis campaign in county this year; Adjourned to meet in June.

The Lee county board of supervisors new road and bridge committee delayed Wednesday afternoon's session of the county board meeting for almost two hours and then were unable to agree upon a plan which was before that body. The committee came into the supervisors' room without making any report of their long drawn-out session and the small amount of remaining business was hurriedly disposed of and the board adjourned until June. The road and bridge committee was reported to have been deadlocked on a proposition which came before them and the matter was allowed to remain to be threshed out at the June meeting.

All of the board members enjoyed the hospitality of Chairman Andrew Nicholson at the noon hour yesterday and were his guests at a luncheon at the Nachusa Tavern.

More Storage Room

The building committee brought in a recommendation at the afternoon session in which they cited the fact that the space for the storage of records in the County Recorder's office was crowded and by moving a stairway leading into the vault on the first floor, considerable additional storage space could be provided, the change being made at a small expense. The board voted empowering the committee to make the necessary changes.

The county home committee brought in a recommendation in which they asked that Mr. and Mrs. Willis M. Frye be appointed superintendent and matron of the County Home near Elmhurst for the ensuing year. The action met with the unanimous approval of the board.

An appropriation of $5,000 for the special bovine tuberculosis eradication campaign in Lee county for the next year was unanimously allowed.

Get $25,000 Refund

The road and bridge committee brought in a resolution in which they stated that a refund from the state to Lee county amounting to $25,000 was due this spring. This money is to be expended on improving roads which were laid out at June meeting last year, in Harmon, China and Reynolds townships. The committee recommends that the County Superintendent be instructed to make a survey of the roads and prepare plans and specifications for the improvement. The recommendation was adopted by a unanimous vote.

TOO MANY DOGS IN DIXON SAYS CHIEF OF POLICE

83 Reported Disposed of in Year Failed to Make Showing.

Commenting on one item in his annual report to the city council, in which he stated that 83 dogs had been disposed of by his department during the year, Chief of Police Van Bibber this morning stated to The Telegraph that Dixon is overrun with canines, and he believes that one of the quickest ways to promote the "City Beautiful" plan, which he heartily endorses is to rid the city of a large number of the four-legged "pets" or "pests". The Chief says that probably 20 animals were buried by his department, which are not included in the 83, turned over to the rendering works.

Mr. Van Bibber is authorized by the statement that the department is kept busy answering complaints concerning dogs than in any other way; the animals destroying gardens and shrubs, causing accidents, etc., and he is of the opinion that if people who lose a pet dog will refrain from getting another the situation will be materially remedied. A very small percentage of the dogs after which the police are called to look are licensed, he says.

THINK PRESIDENT WILL NOT VETO INSURANCE BONUS ACT

Advocates Claim Enough Votes to Override It If Veto Does Come.

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Washington, April 24.—Advocates of the soldier bonus bill centered their attention today on the White House. Passage of the insurance measure yesterday by the senate left only minor differences between the chambers for adjustment in conference and it is expected to be ready soon for President Coolidge's consideration.

No word on the subject of bonus has come from the President since his message to congress. He declared against a bonus at that time but it has been predicted recently that he might approve the insurance plan. At the same time, proponents of the bill have expressed confidence that, even if he should disapprove it, sufficient votes were assured to override a veto.

The bill was passed by the senate yesterday 65 to 17 and the vote in the house was 355 to 54.

Maintain Fight for Cash

Although the bill, providing for cash payments to veterans not entitled to more than $50 in adjusted service compensation and 20 year endowment insurance policies to others, was supported by the American Legion senate democrats gave notice yesterday they would renew their fight for full cash payments, in the next congress.

Senator Walsh, democrat, Massachusetts laid the ground work for such action yesterday with an amendment to the bill postponing until July 1, 1925, the date of issuance of insurance certificates, although leaving the cash payments of $50 or less available immediately upon its enactment.

Senator Walsh predicted a democratic congress would be in power then and an opportunity would be afforded to change the law to include an option of cash payments.

Highway Commissioner James Penny has started work on North Brinton avenue or the Colony road and will resurface the brick paving before starting any other work. At present gravel is being hauled to cover the abandoned street car route to the colony entrance. The tracks are to be covered with gravel and rolled to a level with the street.

Beginning the first of next month, the work of covering the brick with tarvia will be started. In all it is expected that about 12,000 gallons of tarvia will be used on this street. The plans call for two coats of tarvia and two of surfacing gravel over the brick. This method was adopted to reclaim the street without tearing up and relaying the brick or repaving with some other material. The plan has been tested out in many cities in this vicinity and has been highly successful. DeKalb adopted this plan in the heart of the city and the result has been very satisfactory.

He wanted a job, and like everyone else.

He wanted a good one, you know; Where his clothes would not soil and his hands would keep clean, And the salary mustn't be low. He asked for a pen, but they gave him a spade, And he half turned away with a shrug, But he altered his mind, and, seizing the spade—he dug!

He worked with a will that is bound to succeed, And the months and the years went along.

The way it was rough and the labor was hard, But his heart he kept filled with a song, Some jeered him and sneered at the task, but he plugged Just as hard as he ever could plug; Their words never seemed to disturb him a bit—as he dug.

The day came at last when they called for the spade

And gave him a pen in its place, The joy of achievement was sweet to his taste

And victory shown on his face, We can't always get what we hope for at first,

Success costs many queer jigs, But one thing is sure—a man will succeed—if he digs. —Spade.

This is an excellent menu for a warm spring day. As the weather grows warmer less food is needed and even the diet menu should be reduced.

Roast the wieners in the roaster in the oven. Wash well and cut a thin slice from each end of each wiener. Put in the roaster, without water, and roast about 15 minutes in a hot oven. Serve with Worcester-shire sauce and minced Bermuda onion.

The "diet whipped cream" is nothing but the white of one egg beaten until stiff and dry with a whisk. Two to four tablespoons of sugar are beaten into the white and one-half teaspoon of vanilla is used for flavoring. This rule will serve six "normal" persons.

GAIN WEIGHT.

One-half cup stewed rhubarb, one cup rolled oats with 6 dates, 1 soft boiled egg, 3 ounces boiled calves tongue, 2 rice croquettes, 1/4 cup diced beets with 2 tablespoons orange sauce, 1 cup cream of bean soup, 2 "hot-dogs," 2 tablespoons minced potatoes, 2 tablespoons minced Bermuda onion, 1 cup ten-minute cabbage, 1 tomato sliced on 2 ounces watercress with 2 tablespoons French dressing, 2 tablespoons lemon jelly with two tablespoons diet whipped cream and two tablespoons minced nuts, 4 tablespoons fig pudding with 2 tablespoons whipped cream, 1 toasted cornmeal muffin, 2 bran muffins, 2 long rolls, 4 tablespoons butter, 1 dessertspoon sugar, 1/4 cup cream, 1 pint whole milk.

The orange sauce for the beets is made with melted butter, flour to thicken and orange juice to make a creamy sauce. Two tablespoons butter, one tablespoon flour and one cup orange juice makes a delicious sauce.

Extra butter should be added to the cabbage for the gaining diet. The nuts added to the lemon jelly increase the fat calories and are not difficult to digest.

If cream instead of butter and milk is used for the cream of bean it will be easier to digest.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS—Perfect Food.

Hard-boiled eggs are served with greens or spinach not only because of their color harmony but because they furnish the protein necessary to make the combination a perfect food.

Tobacco, pepper, camphor, naphthalene balls and cedar chips are all effective in keeping out moths.

It does not pay to buy cheap cutlery as inferior steel does not take a sharp edge or hold one.

A delicious way to prepare eggs is to bake them inside small tomatoes. Remove the stem end from the tomato and take out the pulp and slip in the egg, sprinkling with salt, pepper, buttered cream and a bit of parsley.

Cream Soups.

Cream soups and purees served with milk are best when you are serving a light dinner or luncheon. They are too rich to precede a heavy meal.

important event by entertaining twenty-four little friends. They had great sport all afternoon, including a visit to John Dixon Park, where races were run and games played. In the foot race Bobbie Shuck won first prize for the boys; and Mary Catherine Rorer won the first prize for the girls. At the Hey home more games were played, Betty Haines, Dicky Durkes and Catherine Buchner being fortunate in winning prizes.

Then a delicious birthday luncheon as served the youngsters and the dainty pink and white and green of the decorations was most appropriate to the happy youth smiling from every side. Paper caps as pretty favors caused much merriment. It was a tired but happy group of youngsters who wished Jimmie "many happy returns" and left with him many nice gifts.

Robert Kennedy's Birthday Party

Robert Kennedy was eleven years old Friday and entertained a company of eleven young friends, with a theater party to see Jackie Coogan in "A Boy of Flanders." Afterwards the young host took his friends to the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Kennedy of Lincoln Way where they enjoyed refreshments, with Easter decorations, the place favors being Easter toy balloons. He received many nice gifts and best wishes of his friends for health and happiness.

Discuss International Relations Sunday

Two members of Congress, and a woman leader in world-wide affairs will discuss International Relations before the National League of Women Voters' convention in Buffalo Sunday, April 27.

Senator Thomas J. Walsh, Democrat of Montana, a recognized expert on international law, Hamilton Fish, Republican representative from New York, who has been abroad several times in the interest of the American Legion, of which he is a member, and Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, former president of the International Woman's Suffrage Alliance, will address the convention. This afternoon mass meeting will be the only gathering of convention delegates on Sunday.

Senator Walsh, who has been practicing law in Montana since 1890, is serving his second term in the Senate. He is a member of the Foreign Relations, Judiciary, Mines and Mining, Public Lands and Surveys, Inter-oceanic Canals, Irrigation and Reclamation committees. He has made a special study of international law, and foreign affairs.

Representative Fish, member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, has been a close observer of international affairs since his graduation from Har-

WHEN WE SEE BY RADIO.

Old P. T. Barnum must have turned over in his grave the other night when a dress rehearsal of one of the big circuses was broadcast by radio. Not that the show wasn't any good. The circus itself was as good as ever—they average about the same, year after year.

But the broadcasting was disappointing,
for the very simple reason that the circus is an "eye show." It appeals by glitter and swift movement and rapid changes.

Hearing a circus that you can't see is like eating a meal without a sense of smell.

Women's voices do not broadcast as clearly and appealingly as men's. Probably this is because a considerable part of the charm of a woman's voice is in seeing the singer. Her looks and her voice may be charming individually and separately, but we are accustomed to a blended harmony of the two. When the singer is invisible and her voice suffering by mechanical reproduction, something is lacking.

Maybe this is also true of male voices. But the audience is not accustomed to enjoy the personal beauty of male singers as a necessary Siamese twin of their vocal work. So imagination is not strained when listening to male voices by radio.

The appeal of singing, acting and other
theatricals is two ways—by eye and by ear.
When there is an intellectual as well as an emotional appeal, there's apt to be a scant audience.

The appeal to the eye is several times more vital than the appeal to the ear. This has been demonstrated by the success of the silent form of entertainment, movies, though even in this field the effect is enriched by skillful orchestral aid.

But radio, now appealing strictly to the ear, faces a more difficult problem. Radio will not be all-around satisfactory until the radio bug is able to see as well as hear the entertainers.

The inventors are hot on the trail now. It probably will not be many years until the radio bug will have an attachment by which he will see what he is hearing. Radio has eliminated space as far as hearing is concerned, and the chances are that it will also eliminate distance in the matter of eyesight.

A fascinating prospect, even for the doubtful.

TRAVEL COSTS.

How much does it cost to travel? Magnus Johnson insists that $5 a day is enough expense allowance for a government employee.
It depends, of course, on how much railroad
fare has to be bought.

Travel has become an expensive luxury.
Corporation before the war figured that a high-grade salesman, making long jumps and stopping at good city hotels, couldn't get by for less than $10 a day. It takes twice as much now, on account of lower buying power of the dollar.

FLIES.

Good-bye, screen door. A Boston firm will market a "doorless door." When flies try to enter, they are blown back by a constant draft of fanned air which, however, is not powerful enough to interfere with the entrance of customers. A boon for meat markets and other shops where flies enter whenever the screen door is opened.

In trying out this device in Boston, no flies were available, it being winter. So the company telegraphed to Texas and had 2000
flies rushed by express and fed on the way.
Talk about civilization getting complex!

PRESIDENTIAL PRIVACY.

The good old institution of public handshaking in the white house is abolished. The president finds it is too great a strain on his energy and too wasteful of his time to shake hands with 1000 or more of his fellow-citizens every noon. So now he lets them file through the executive offices just the same, but pays no attention to them. They look upon the president at his desk, engaged in important work or seeing important callers, as if they were gazing upon a movie, and go away fairly well satisfied.

It is a good and sensible arrangement and not altogether an innovation. President Wilson during the war found it necessary to conserve his energy in the same way, and barred the general public from the white house altogether. President Harding threw the doors wide open, and suffered accordingly from a deluge of children, lodge members, sales-men's convention and miscellaneous delegations of home folks towed in by officious congressmen. It was that, perhaps, as much as anything else, that wore out Mr. Harding.

The custom, despite its venerable origin
and popular appeal, can well be dispensed with. What was proper in a country of 3,- 000,000 people who traveled little is quite another matter in a country of 115,000,000 of whom many thousands visit the national capital every day.

STRUGGLE.

Being in business for yourself is not all it's "cracked up to be." There are 1,425,000 stores in America. That's a store for every 76 people, which isn't much in the way of customers. Of course, this includes all sorts of stores and a customer trades in various kinds of shops—food, clothing, books, etc.
But, even at that, the retail merchandising field is very overcrowded. It's a lucky grocery that feeds more than 60 or 75 families.

Out of what looks like profits at first glance, come rent, clerk hire, lighting, heating and other expenses.

CURRYCOMBS.

Another ancient device seems doomed—
the currycomb. A vacuum cleaner attachment is taking its place, and is said to do a better job, in addition to greater speed.

If Abraham Lincoln came back to life, he wouldn't recognize nine-tenths of the devices
we use in our modern complex civilization, let alone know how to use them until instructed.
The same would be true if we, now living, could return to earth in the year 2000. However, people continue doing the same basic tasks, generation after generation, only the tools change.

ALAS!

Another illusion is destroyed. We'd always envied prehistoric people, believing they had an easy time of it. But they had to work 25,- 000 years ago. This is disclosed by discovery of tools of labor near the petrified human skeletons found in California. The tools were a bone awl and a rock ax.

The ax may have been used in hunting, but the awl indicates sewing, one of the earliest forms of work. Man has to toil for his bread, no matter in what part of the world he lives or in what period of history. The few who escape work are supported by the toil of others.

Eastern universities are restricting freshmen enrollments, but the '28 class, School of Hard Knocks, will doubtless open with no limit.

For all our boasted inventive genius, we have never coined a word satisfactorily to describe a male flapper.

OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Barton

NO. 10.—RED RIDING HOOD'S HOUSE

And there stood a little house with a neat sign.

"Would you like to go and call on Red Riding Hood?" asked Mister Muggs as Nancy and Nick seated themselves in the magic automobile
for their next adventure in Once-Upon-a-Time Land.

"Shall we see the wolf?" asked Nick.

"I'm not so sure about that," answered little Mister Muggs. "You see, the wood-cutters chased him so far and gave him such a beating that he may not have felt like coming back."

"Chug, chug, chug! they went over seven counties and seven towns, and in the twinkling of seven eyes they came to the forest where Red Riding Hood had met the wolf."

And there stood a little house with a neat sign which said, "Granny's Cottage—Lift up the latch and walk in."

So they all walked in—and there stood the old wolf.

"Oh, my!" cried Nancy, rushing for the cupboard where Red Riding Hood's grandmother had hidden long ago when the wolf chased her out of bed.

"Come here, Nancy," said little Mister Muggs bravely. "Don't be afraid of this fellow. I never did believe that he meant to hurt Red Riding Hood or Granny either!"

Suddenly two big tears fell out of the wolf's eyes. "Oh, no, sir! I wouldn't have hurt a hair of their heads! I've been away for fifteen years on the other side of the world, and I've just come back. I'll tell you the truth now. I'm not really a wolf at all, but an enchanted prince. A wicked fairy put me under a spell for fifteen years. The fifteen years are up and I'm waiting for the spell to be broken. This is my kingdom and I own this forest."

"Well, well, well!" declared Mister Muggs. "Who would have thought it? I shouldn't, for one."

"And I never forgot the sweet little girl I met in the woods picking flowers. Do you know where she lives?"
asked the wolf.

"We are just on our way to her house now," said Mister Muggs. "If you care to come you may follow us
along the path."

Red Riding Hood, now grown up, was making beds and looked out of the window and saw them.

"Look what's after you!" she cried,
sticking her head out of the window.
"It's a dreadful wolf!"

"Oh, please ma'am, I'm not dreadful," said the wolf. "If you'll only let me come inside I'll be as good as gold and sit in a corner."

"Well, if you sit in a corner, you may," said Red Riding Hood. "Come in, everybody."

So they all went in and Red Riding

LETTER FROM LESLIE PRES-COTT TO LESLIE PRESOTT,
CARE OF THE SECRET
DRAWER, CONTINUED

It was with mixed emotions that I drove home. I was not quite sure, little Marquise, just where I was wrong in my estimate of what was due a wife, and where Sally was right.

Of course I knew that Sally Atherton cared very little for Sam. I knew that she had come to work for Jack because she wanted to get away from him. Yet it seemed to me that something out of the years they had spent together would be hers still. It seemed to me that if my employer had not mentioned the great trouble—for even if it were not a great grief, it must have been a great trouble—that I had passed through, I would have felt that he was lacking in sympathy.

I don't believe I'd ever make a business woman, I said to myself. I don't believe I have enough of the masculine turn of mind. Little things mean so much to me. I dream and raise beautiful pictures, and then the hurt
of it all when they crumble before reality.

Ever since I got that beautiful letter from Jack, little Marquise, I have been thinking of him. I presume, as something not quite human. I long-ed for him; I wanted his arms about me. I wanted the kisses he spoke about to close my eyes that I might keep within their lowered lids the happiness that threatened to overflow.

That letter little Marquise, was one of the very infrequent thrills that I have received lately. I think that had

I not received it, I should not have gone to the train in answer to the suggestion of that wire. But having received it, of course I expected to find not a man, but a lover; and really, little Marquise, you who have had a great lover know that there is a wonderful difference.

It is very hard, after you have been living in the ethereal clouds of emotion, to come back to earth with a thud. I don't quite understand how men can do it. They seem to like parachute drops, and they gaily smile, even if they reach terra firma, with a bump, and run away to their everyday affairs seemingly to think that if they wish it, they can make another balloon ascension into the bare emotional ether.

Perhaps that's where we women make a mistake. We enshrine Eros as our household god, and we try to pay daily worship to him, although all sorts of other duties intervene. Consequently we neither do what is right by love or by the other things which are necessary in our daily life.

Men, on the other hand, have a distinct idea of what shall come first,
and then they graduate the importance of their duties way down along the line. Of course we women think that with them as with us, love should come first, but instead, knowing the necessities of material things, men put ambition and power first—ambition to make a success, and success always includes power.

Sometimes I think that power is the dominant desire of all masculinity.
Man wants to be all powerful, even in his love. A man wants to make all hithouse who contact with him to do so in his own way. There is the clash and the battle of life.

All the joy had been taken out of Jack's homecoming for me by his nervous annoyance when he first saw me.

Perhaps I'm just a silly woman, but if Jack had met me with that tender smile and speech at the train that he made to me as he jumped hurriedly
from the car at his office the whole complexion of my day would have been changed. I would have driven him to the office with a happiness-filled heart that would have sung until I met him again.

I expect I ought to be happy anyway for although the tenderness came late it was there. "Take the good the gods provide" is pretty good advice,
isn't it?

Isn't this enough of my reactions for this time, little Marquise? Anyway, I think I will close.

LESLIE.

GETTING UP NIGHTS

Is One of Nature's Danger Signals. A Healthy Bladder Does Not Act at Night.

Irritation, excessive acidity or abnormal discharge may be the cause. It needs clearing up. Lathiatu Buchu (Keller Formula) acts on the kidneys and bladder as Epsom Salts on the bowels. R. D. Nebel, 10 Oak St., Battle Creek, Mich., says: "For three years had to get up three times at night. Lathiatu Buchu (Keller Formula) helped me in two days. I now do heavy work." It isn't a patent medicine. The formula is on the label. Sold by

Nation Pays Tribute to Submarine Heroes

Tokio, April 23.—Bitterness over anti-Japanese immigration legislation was forgotten today while tribute was paid to 44 victims of the Sasebo submarine district, who it has developed, wrote notes pledging immortal patriotism while awaiting death.
In connection with funeral ceremonies at Sasebo, the navy department made public letters found in the navy submarine 43, which sank off Sasebo Harbor March 19. Typical of the phrases written by the men were these:
"Long live the emperor."
"We die, but we guard the empire after death."
Eighty-two per cent of our children are forced to quit school and go to work before they complete the eighth grade.
Members of the British Parliament do not begin to draw their salaries until the election of a speaker has been confirmed.

EPWORTH LEAGUE NOTES

The early Sunrise service and breakfast conducted by the Senior and Intermediate Epworthians on Easter morning was attended by forty young persons and enjoyed by all of them. The devotional service, quietly meditative in nature, was led by Frederic Ball. The songs were Easter hymns, well chosen and inspiring, and the Scripture told the story of the first Easter morning. The talk centered about the topic: "The Heart of Our Faith—the Living Christ." The fact was brought out that God must be worshipped in spirit and in truth, for "God is a spirit." Therefore our deep concern should be to have the spiritual presence of Christ in our hearts and His Lordship in our lives. The leader remarked that we must not think of Christ as a historic figure but as a vital, living presence among us today. Without His resurrection and coming to life again—which is Easter's meaning to us—we would never celebrate or remember Christmas, for His rising from the dead is the key-note and heart of our Christian faith today.
There were two special numbers following this talk. The first was a piano solo by Alberta Peterson. She played "Hark! Hark! the Lark" by Schubert-Liszt. The second was an Easter morning poem, "Until the Break of Day" by Du Bridge which was read by Dorothy Thorne. Epworthians enjoyed both numbers very much.
After one or two more inspiring songs and the League benediction, the young people adjourned to the church dining hall where a splendid breakfast had been prepared by Clea and Velma White and Mrs. G. P. Powell.
The Juniors closed their successful year's work under Mrs. Powell as superintendent last Wednesday afternoon. At that time there were eighteen boys and girls at the church. They finished their Bible notebooks and other work and following that enjoyed refreshments. Most of the youngsters were sorry to close their meetings for the summer and urged Mrs. Powell to continue but it was thought best to stop before the warm weather arrived then take up the work again next September. The Juniors have enjoyed their League work very much and have learned much in their meetings. Mrs. Powell is to be complimented for her successful work with these boys and girls. Three high school girls have acted as Mrs. Powell's assistants, Helen Trade-well, Goldie Rizzer and Alice Powell.
There is no doubt about the interest of Methodism's young people in the World Service program when sixteen were read by Dorothy Thorne. Ep-

Pacific coast attract 2500 Epworth Leaguers representing 153 chapters.

Again next Sunday the Intermediate will meet with the Seniors, this time because it is Institute Sunday. It will be an important day for the Epworth League. At the regular League hour Eugene Vest will direct a discussion by the veteran "Institute" on the value of the Institute and why they never miss a chance to go. Its history, motive and program will all be explained and the eighteen young people who went to Franklin Grove last year will do much to persuade their friends to spend a worthwhile week there this summer. At the evening service Mary Rosegrant Foley of the Central office of the Epworth League, Chicago, will speak on "The Epworth League Around the World." She is an interesting, enthusiastic, forceful speaker and thoroughly interested in "Young People's Work for Young People." No doubt a large crowd will attend at the 7:30 hour to hear her address.

First official information regarding this summer's Institute has been received. It will be at Franklin Grove and the dates are July 6-13. A strong faculty has been secured and a splendid week is certain. The local pastor, Rev. Aubrey S. Moore is dean, Miss Lillian B. Watkins, 4949 Indiana Ave., Chicago, is dean of women and Rev. Warren Hutchinson of Steward is manager.

Tuesday evening an important joint cabinet meeting of the Senior and Intermediate groups was held at the church in regard to how the two groups were to carry on their summer and fall work. James Andrews was chairman of this special session.

The nominating committee representing both Leagues is called to meet next Tuesday evening at 7:30 at Mrs. G. P. Powell's home on East Third street.

A special chorus of young people will furnish the music at next Sunday evening's services.

COMMUNISM IS HIT HARD IN ADDRESS BY MR. DAUGHERTY

Senators Making Too Many Trips to Moscow, He Charges.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Columbus, O., April 24.—Bitterly assailing the influences which brought about his retirement from President Coolidge's cabinet and voicing a warning that the "very foundation of this government is threatened by present methods of investigations," H. M. Daugherty told an audience of friends and neighbors here last night that he had given up his cabinet post rather than "contribute to a treasonable cause."

Communism and its alleged influence on the federal government, through certain United States senators, were discussed at length, the former Attorney General charging that the communist international in Moscow was directing propaganda in this country to the end of causing revolution. "There have been too many pilgrimages of late to Moscow and too few to Mount Vernon, Springfield, Ill., and Canton and Marion, O.," he shouted, digressing for a moment from his prepared address. He named Senators Wheeler and Brookhart as having "spent last summer in Russia with their Soviet friends."

Commenting on his refusal to turn over to the Wheeler investigating committee department of justice files, which action precipitated the request by the president for his resignation, Mr. Daugherty said:

"I preferred to permit my integrity to be questioned and my honor to hang in the balances rather than surrender the files in the keeping of the department of justice."

Vouching his friendship for President Coolidge, Mr. Daugherty said that though the President and himself have had an unpleasant experience they "have had no quarrel."

Mr. Daugherty said that Frank A. Vanderlip, whom he characterized as a man of "peculiar mentality," was paying most of the expense of the Wheeler investigating committee.

Sounds a Warning.
Concluding, the former cabinet member declared that "the signs of the times are ominous. We are in the midst of a situation, many of its aspects unprecedented in the history of our country. I sound a warning note to every American tonight. The enemy is at the gate. He aims at nothing short of the overthrow of the institutions which are your protection and mine against tyranny, whether exercised in the name of monarchy or in the name of mob. Do not underestimate the power of this unprincipled leadership, with its combinations and relationship at home and abroad. Its designs against historic Americanism are far-reaching."

Knitted Frocks For Springtime Smartness

FLOWERS are not the only things that bloom in the Spring for knitted frocks flourish as well. And as if in answer to a charge that knitted dresses cannot be diversified in style, the new season presents them in more attractive renditions than ever before. Spring is already at the door, and it is not at all unusual on warm afternoons to see women shopping on the Avenue, smartly togged in knitted frocks.

The reasons for the popularity of knitted dresses are so obvious. They possess comfort, stress chic and last but by no means least, are becoming to all types of figures. Among the newest versions of the knitted dress are those which make a point of plaid designs.

In some cases the plaid handling is discerned only in the skirt sections of the one-piece frocks, with wide stripes extending up to the shoulder line. Then perhaps the plaid makes its appearance once more in the sleeves, furnishing a most effective contrast.

Fashion has decreed that frocks be trimmed with buttons this season, and accordingly many of the knitted frocks introduce them both for ornamental and utilitarian purposes. The frock illustrated chooses to fasten straight up the front with buttons and loops, and while the collar may be turned back if desired, it is considered very smart right now to wear it fastened high at the throat.

ENGINEER BROKE DOWN AS HE TOLD OF WILBERT'S END

Pilot of Train Wept as He Recited Story of Monday's Tragedy.

The funeral of Rolla L. Wilbert of this city, live wire foreman of the Illinois Northern Utilities Co., who was killed by a Northwestern passenger train at Sterling Monday afternoon, while on duty repairing broken insulators on the company's lines along the railroad right of way, was held this morning at 8:30 o'clock at St. Patrick's church. Many fellow employees of the I. N. U. and Veterans of Foreign Wars attended the services. The body was taken to Elizabeth, Ill., for burial.

The inquest into his death was held in Sterling, the verdict of the jury being in accordance with the facts as given in Monday evening's Telegraph.

His Helpers Testified.
Stark Allen, James McCormick and Ray Upton, linemen from Prophetstown who were with Wilbert testified. None of them heard the whistle on the train approaching from the east. The train from the west was passing at the time. The engineer on the eastbound train motioned to them but they did not realize what the trouble was. Wilbert was third in line. Lyle Upton going first, Ray Upton next, then Wilbert, McCormick and Allen. The others were walking further away from the tracks. The body of Wilbert hurled by the train, brushed Ray Upton on the shoulder and struck Lyle Upton causing a fracture of his right leg. The men were almost to the point where they would leave the railroad to change some broken insulators on I. N. U.

Engineer Weeps.
John Daniels, engineer, and Paul Williams, fireman, on the eastbound train testified to seeing the men and the attempt made to warn the men of the approaching train. John Williams of Clinton, engineer on Train No. 13, testified that he started to blow the whistle five hundred feet away from the men as he realized that they were too close to the tracks. The train had just come around a reverse curve and as soon as he saw the men he blew the whistle and when they did not turn around he began tooting it and kept it up until after he had passed them. He also applied the brakes. He was on the north side of the cab and could not see the men after the train got within two hundred feet of them. During his testimony, Mr. Williams broke down and wept. He was very much affected by the accident and informed those present that they could not realize the feeling of a man at the throttle when he realized that some one would be struck by his train. The train was traveling about 50 miles per hour at the time.

Lee Russell, fireman, was on the side toward the men and saw the accident. Dr. W. H. McDaniel testified to being called and upon his arrival a few minutes later found Wilbert dead. E. M. Marvin, manager of the Sterling office of the I. N. U., and Walter Thomas, employee of the I. N. U., testified.

Tax Reduction to Be Next Important Bill for Senate's Action

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, April 24.—The senate cleared the calendar of minor bills today preparatory to plunging into the tax reduction measure. The revenue bill was made the unfinished business of the senate yesterday immediately after passage of the bonus bill.

Expecting to get to work on the bill today, Chairman Smoot of the finance committee declared it would be held before the senate until definite progress had been made toward its disposition.

Only five weeks remain before the time tentatively set by leaders of both the senate and house for adjournment.

The second installment of 1923 income taxes falls due June 15 and the provision for a reduction of 25 per cent in these levies is contained in the pending bill.

WOMAN LIKELY TO OPEN MEET OF DEMOCRATS

Leaders Consider Making Woman Temporary Chairman.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
New York, April 24.—A woman, for the first time in the history of the country's major political parties, may sound the keynote of the democratic party's 1924 principles and preside as temporary chairman of the democratic national convention in Madison Square Garden next June.

The possibility was admitted when it was reliably reported last night that the sub-committee on convention arrangements had the choice of a woman under consideration. The sub-committee's choice will not be made known until after the middle of May.

There was no denial that the suggestion had been made and received with considerable favor and the sub-committee was said to have gone so far as to discuss several of the party's foremost woman politicians. It was reported that the name of Carrie Chapman Catt had been brought into the discussion in connection with the post.

Tex Rickard, lessee of Madison Square Garden has presented the national committee with a rent free lease to the garden.

CUBS 'ERKED UP SMOTHERED CARDS IN O'ENER AT HOME

Sox Defeated Yesterday at St. Louis; Yanks Celebrate at Bat.

By Associated Press Licensed Wire
Manager Dave Bancroft of the Braves drove in the run which gave his team a 3 to 2 fifteen inning victory over Philadelphia at Boston yesterday.

Catch, going the route for the Phillies, weakened in the 15th and Boston broke up the game before a man was retired. Stryker, who relieved McNamare allowed but two hits in the last seven frames. Boston played error-less ball.

After the Yanks raised their 1923
pennant in New York, Babe Ruth emerged from his soma and presented his entire repertoire for the American opening day crowd of 48,000. After crossing the Red Sox outfield by hitting a single and double to left field, Babe lifted his second home run of the year into his favorite right field bleachers.

The world's champions pounded three Red Sox pitchers for 15 hits and took a 13-4 victory.

Cubs Smother Cards
Grantham made his third homer of the season in Chicago's 12-1 victory over St. Louis in the National League and tied Rogers Hornsby for major league home run honors. Grimes of the Cubs also hit for the circuit.

Cleveland won from the leading Detroits 6-5 in a stirring 10 inning battle. After two were out in the ninth the Indians tied the score with two runs and four hits. The Tigers tallied one in the tenth, but the home team made it a glorious day with three hits and two more runs.

Hausner's homer, mixed in a flurry of bingles in the seventh, helped the Athletics to a 6 to 4 victory over Washington at Philadelphia. The Browns broke their losing streak, by winning from the White Sox 9-5 in a free hitting game at St. Louis.

Sisler in Lineup
The work of Sisler was largely responsible for the Browns' winning.
The Browns beat the White Sox in the first game of the year and then took the opener from the same club before the home folks. Sisler in addition to getting three hits scored two runs, stole a base and figured in three double plays which broke up the White Sox rallies.

Big Ball Reaches N. Y.
A large baseball which started a rolling from Chicago a week ago, finished its trip yesterday, when a millions attachment from Governor's Island rolled the ball into the Yank Stadium in New York.

Paul Strand, former Salt Lake slugger, is doing good work for the Athletics. He gathered three hits in four times up. One was a double and helped beat the Senators.

Urban Shocker, star pitcher of the St. Louis Browns, will not be able to play for some time. He is suffering from tonsillitis and will remain in Cleveland with his wife, whose father is seriously ill.

Firpo is Willing to Tack on Quin Roja

Buenos Aires, April 24.—(By the Associated Press)—Luis Firpo who recently announced his retirement from the ring, said today he was willing to go to the United States and fight Quintin Romero Rojas, heavyweight, provided Romero fought no other boxer previously.

This reversal of Firpo's decision is due, he asserts solely to resentment reported declarations by Rojas, that Firpo forced him, together with statements of similar tenor published in the Chilean newspapers.

New York, April 24.—The twelve round bout at Madison Square Garden, May 2, between Quintine Roman-Rojas, Chilean heavyweight, and Floyd Johnson, Iowa heavyweight, for which articles were signed yesterday will not be cancelled to permit Lu-Firpo to get first chance at the Chilean, Tex Rickard declared today.

In the United States and Canada
there are about 75,000 locomotives, of which 850 are electric locomotives.
The latter type has been in process of development for 28 years.

Russia to Try to Show World Desire for Peace is There

Moscow, April 23.—May Day will be celebrated in Russia this year by peaceful manifestations on the part of the civil population, instead of militant demonstrations by the red army
as in the past.

This may be taken, the Bolsheviks
say, as symptomatic of the soviet's desire to convince the world of its peaceful intentions.

Hundreds of thousands of workers and their families are expected to march to the great improvised wooden shrine in Red Square, in which the body of Lenin is interned, and there pay homage to their revolutionary leader.

Contrary to custom, no amnesties
will be granted.
Students! Before you select your commencement invitations come in and see our samples. B. F. Shaw

JES' SEN- TIMENT

Just two little shoes that are ragged
and torn, are held as a memory sweet.
Of many black buttons these objects
are shown; from age, they no longer are neat.

And yet, as I see them, I drift to the past—some twenty-odd long years ago. These shoes are an echo that always will last—that means a lot more than you know.

Back there in the days when the shoe soles were bright, a little tot walked then, around, and all of the buttons were fastened on tight.

British woolen industries were the chief source of national wealth until the development of the cotton trade toward the close of the 18th century.

CREDIT FOR SUFFRAGE

By JOHN T. ADAMS.

Chairman of the Republican National Committee

To the Republican party belongs the credit for the national enfranchisement of women. The records of the two old parties upon that issue are in striking contrast. Five times within six years, between 1913 and 1919, the Democratic party, in control of all branches of the federal government, defeated a proposal to give women full citizenship under the federal Constitution. In May, 1919, the newly elected Republican Congress was assembled in special session. Its first act was the introduction and passage of the equal suffrage amendment. This was done within two weeks from the time the Republican Congress convened. When this amendment was submitted to the states 37 ratified it. Of these, 30 had Republican legislatures, and only seven had Democratic legislatures. Of the eight states which refused to ratify, seven were Democratic. In giving women the right to vote in federal elections, the Republican party was consistent with its record. It had been a pioneer in behalf of equal suffrage for women. Twelve states—all Republican—had given women full suffrage in state affairs before the federal amendment was adopted. This is typical of the fundamental difference between the Republican and Democratic parties upon questions affecting women and the home. Long before women had a right to vote, their counsel was sought and their voice was potent in determining policies of the Republican states. The Republican party is responsible for federal legislation creating the Women's bureau and the Children's bureau in the Department of Labor. It enacted the pure food law, the meat inspection act and the honest label laws which safeguard the food which goes into the American household. In Republican states legislation desired by women is infinitely farther advanced than in Democratic states. This is true not only of industrial legislation, but of legislation regarding education, community activities, juvenile courts, correctional institutions and all public agencies touching and affecting womanhood, childhood and the interests of the home. The records of the two great parties as reflected in federal and state legislation shows the Republican party has been the consistent friend and protector of American womanhood and childhood for over a half century.

LIFE

Life! I know not what thou art,
But know that thou and I must part;
And when or how, or where we meet,
I own to me's a secret yet.

Life! we've been long together,
Through pleasant and through cloudy weather;
'Tis hard to part when friends are dear—
Perhaps 'twill cost a sigh, a tear;
—Then steal away, give little warning,
Choose thine own time;
Say not Good-Night,—but in some brighter clime Bid me Good-Morning.

—Anna Letitia Barbauld.

COMPROMISE IS THE LIFE OF FASHION

He—and more especially she—who knows how to compromise is never lost. And this is particularly true when applied to the realm of fashion. The maiden in this picture found that the distinctly boyish type of blouse did not suit her pensive and languid type, but of course she wanted to be fashionable, so she and her modiste put their heads together—and evolved this charming blouse, which conforms to the tailored mode in its simplicity while yet retaining a great deal of feminine softness.

It is developed in soft biscuit colored Cheney Crepe and achieves its trimming by strips of new pleats back and front, and by two bands of pleats horizontally placed, forming a sort of border. The collar and cuffs are knotted with narrow bands of the same crepe, forming a charming little grace note to the blouse. The blouse slips on over the head, this being made quite easy by the deep opening.

TO MY PICTURE

When age hath made me what I am not now,
And every wrinkle tells me where the plough
Of Time hath furrow'd; when an ice shall flow
Through every vein, and all my head be snow;
When Death displays his coldness in my cheek,
And I myself in my own picture seek,
Not finding what I am, but what I was,
In doubt which to believe—this or my glass;
Yet though I alter, this remains the same
As it was drawn, retains the primitive frame
And first complexion; here will still be seen
Blood on the cheek and down upon the chin;
Here the smooth brow will stay, the lively eye.
The ruddy lip, and hair of youthful dye.
Behold what frailty we in man may see.
Whose shadow is less given to change than he!

—Thomas Randolph.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Dolly, a governess, marries Nigel Bretherton for his money. The marriage proves an unhappy one. When war is declared, Nigel is glad to enlist. He leaves Dolly in the care of Mary Farnival. Mary comes to live in Dolly's flat.

When word comes that Nigel has been killed, Dolly marries an old suitor named Robert Durham and they sail for America. Nigel's older brother, David, calls to see Nigel's widow. He mistakes Mary for Dolly. He is ashamed to tell of Dolly's marriage. An old friend named Fisher shows David a picture of Nigel's wife and David sees that it is not a picture of the girl he takes for Nigel's widow. A letter comes to Mary from Dolly, written en route to America.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
"Write to me if you can; I will send you an address as soon as we land."

"We have had glorious weather so far, and I haven't been ill at all. I am so glad, as a seashore bride must be too awful, mustn't it? Robert is quite well off, you know, and gives me heaps of money. It is such a change after having one's income doled out by a stingy brother-in-law. I wonder if the mainly David has turned up at the flat yet, and what he said when you told him."

"Mary, mind you tell me everything that happens, and what you are going to do. I said in my letter I left for you, that you might sell the things and keep the money, and I still hope that you will. You were very kind to me, and I don't like to think I have treated you badly."

"Mary, you ought to have married Nigel instead of me. You would have adored him. I know. Robert sends his love to you, and hopes to meet you some day. Perhaps you might come out here to stay with us for a little while. Would you like that?"

"We are going to live in an hotel to start with; houses are so frightfully dear, and anyway, I hate house-keeping, and having to look after servants."

"Was a lot of things have happened in these last few months! I am glad to say that on the boat we don't hear much about the awful war; people seem to be trying to forget it. There are some Americans who sit next to us at table. They have taken a great fancy to me. Robert gets quite jealous, poor darling."

"Mary threw the letter down with a little shudder. She could not believe that it was indeed Dolly who had written it—Dolly, whom Nigel had loved so much. How cruel life was, how horribly cruel and unfair!"

"She could not touch her breakfast. She wandered restlessly about the little flat, unable to settle to anything."

"The door of Nigel's room had been kept locked since he went away. She deliberately turned the key now, and entered."

It still smelt faintly of smoke. It was still littered with his possessions. There was a worn-out pipe on the shelf, and a jar half filled with tobacco; shabby slippers were kicked carelessly beneath a chair."

Mary sat down on the sofa where she had so often seen him lying to read and smoke, and looked round the room with mournful eyes. So full of his presence the room was still, and yet—she would never hear his laugh, or his cheery whistle. He was dead, wiped out, and forgotten."

She was so lost in her own sad thoughts that she never heard the doorbell ring or a step on the landing outside—never saw a man, who stood on the threshold hesitating for a moment as if in doubt whether to enter, until she spoke."

He was asked to make immediate payment to the undersigned.

CANNED HEAT RANK POISON SAYS CHEMIST

Those Who Drink Are Taking Most Serious Chances.

Users of canned heat as an intoxicating beverage are throwing themselves into the jaws of death or are taking the chance of forever losing their sight, according to a letter written by the Bureau of Internal Revenue of the Treasury Department of Washington, D. C., a copy of which has fallen into the hands of Chief of Police Van Bibber. The letter, which is in answer to a query as to whether canned heat contained poison, reads as follows:

"The attention of Prohibition Commissioner Haynes has recently been called to the use of a product known as 'Stern's Canned Heat' for intoxicating beverage purposes with very serious results. This product, which is manufactured under permit to use denatured alcohol therein, is every used as a fuel, and its sale for that purpose is proper and requires no permit. However, the denatured alcohol which is used in its manufacture contains wood alcohol, soap and nitrocellulose. This makes 'Stern's' utterly unfit for use as a beverage, and in fact makes it deadly poisonous and in fact makes it deadly poisonous and in fact makes it deadly poisonous."

"Cans of this product have been often picked up by the local police, indicating that some one has been taking a desperate chance of losing his life or his eyesight. One death from canned heat was recorded here a little over a year ago, but this fact seems to have been forgotten by some men, whose appetite for booze seems so strong that they are willing to take a chance with the most poisonous of poisons."

On the label on outside of the cans is the skull and cross bones with the warning "Poison" printed in large letters.

Because so much of this stuff has been sold throughout the country and used for drinking purposes, there has been an urgent demand to find out if the canned heat really contained poison or whether the manufacturers were eliminating it so as to enhance its sale to drinkers. A letter to the manufacturers brought the reply that "Stern's Canned Heat" is absolutely poisonous when taken internally and a chemical analysis in the U. S. government laboratory affirms the statement.

"May I come in?"
She started up with a little smothered cry. David Bretherton stood there. She went to meet him eagerly.

"I am so sorry—I did not hear you—I was dreaming—"
He came into the room, and stood looking round him.

"This was Nigel's room?"
"Yes."

His grave eyes swept her face, and a sudden kindness filled them. "You must not stay on in this flat," he said. "It is killing work living alone with memories."

She looked at him, trying to smile. "I am only staying till things can be arranged. I don't want to live here; I couldn't afford to, even if I did."

A curious expression flashed across his face.

DEMONSTRATION OF SOIL TREATMENT AT DIXON FIELD MAY 7

State Experts to Show Farmers Best Way to Treat Local Soil.

Urbana, April 24.—Meetings to impress the farmer of the value of modern soil improvement methods are to be held this spring at seven of the 33 soil experiment fields maintained by the college of agriculture of the University of Illinois, according to F. C. Bauer, chief of the experiment fields. Meetings will be held as follows: Sparta, Randolph county, April 29. Dubois, Washington county, Apr. 30. Enfield, White county, May 1. Palestine, Crawford county, May 2. Mt. Morris, Ogle county, May 6. Dixon, Lee county, May 7. Hartsburg, Logan county, May 9. Each of the meetings will start at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon and continue through the rest of the day. "The meetings are being held just at this time in order to give farmers an opportunity to study the value of sweet clover as a green manure," Mr. Bauer said. "An attempt is being made to establish the practice of using the crop for this purpose on Illinois farms and soil workers of the college are especially anxious for farmers to see the sweet clover growing on the fields and study its merits before it is plowed under in preparation for the corn crop. Since limestone usually is important in connection with the successful growing of sweet clover its use and value also will be discussed at each of the meetings."

Several Short Talks
"A number of different soil treatments involving manure, limestone, clover, potash and phosphates are being used on each of the fields in an attempt to build up the soil for better paying yields."

A program including an inspection of the fields and a number of short talks has been arranged for each of the meetings. H. J. Snider, assistant chief of the soil experiment fields, will speak on "Sweet Clover For Soil Improvement," at the Sparta, Dubois, Enfield, Palestine and Hartsburg fields; John Lamb will speak on "Limestone Problems in Soil Improvement," at the Sparta, Dubois, Enfield and Palestine fields; C. J. Badger will explain the work being done at Dubois, Enfield and Sparta; A. H. Thor will handle this part of the program at the Palestine field meeting; A. L. Lang will speak on an explanation of this at the Dixon and Mt. Morris fields, and Mr. Bauer will speak on soil building problems and different cropping systems.

Broadcasters Win Victory in Court

By Associated Press Licensed Wire
Cincinnati, O., April 23.—A victory for broadcasting stations using musical numbers on which a copyright has been granted, was won in the U. S. District Court here today, when Judge Smith Hickenlooper dismissed a petition filed to halt the broadcasting of such numbers without paying the fee of the copyright. The suit was filed by Jerome N. Remick & Co., New York, publishers, against the American Automobile Accessories Co., of Cincinnati, a manufacturer of radio receiving sets and parts. Judge Hickenlooper said he does not think the rendition of a song in the seclusion of a broadcasting studio is a public performance within the intent of congress in enacting the copyright law.

New Treatment for Varicose Veins and Ulcers

Swollen veins are dangerous and often burst. Sufferers are advised to get a two-ounce, original bottle of Emerald Oil (full strength), at any pharmacist and start to reduce the veins and blemishes at once.

Physicians recommend Emerald Oil; it is used in hospital practice and a small bottle will last a long time, because it is very concentrated and a little goes a long way. Apply night and morning with a soft brush as directed until the swelling is reduced to normal.

So marvelously powerful is Emerald Oil that swollen glands and even goitre disappear when used steadily.—Adv.

THE PERIL OF NARCOTICS

BY CAPTAIN RICHMOND P. HOBSON
III.—Truth Is Remedy

There is a passage in Scripture: "For want of knowledge my people perish."

In no domain is this more true than in this "new environment of peril."

Another passage in Scripture, however, says: "Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free."

If a young man knew that this "snow," as narcotic addicts call cocaine and heroin, is more deadly than the venom of the cobra, the rattlesnake or copperhead, do you think he would attend a "snow party"?

And yet these drugs, full effect considered, are far more deadly than the venom of reptiles.

In addition to retarding organic functions, they degenerate the brain and lead soon to abject slavery. In the offspring of addicts, the tendency is toward subnormality, and in the end to sterility and a living death for the addict. Nature has her recourse.

The race must either find a remedy or take the road toward extinction.

The rising tide of crime is a thing against which the forces of law and effort to treat addicts and reclaim the wreckage gives but little hope.

The narcotic trust, or "dope ring," has a virtual monopoly on the narcotic supply for addiction purposes. Its members obtain the drugs at a few dollars an ounce. They charge addicts more than a dollar a grain, in most cases more than $500 an ounce.

The heroin addict is the most common. He cannot get money enough lawfully to supply himself with the drug which to him is the most necessary thing in life. To insure his own supply, he becomes a peddler.

It is now agreed that one addict often produces seven more. The captain of a company, in the World war, in conversation with a scientist who mentioned the "one-producing-seven" estimate, said: "That is very conservative."

In an assignment of soldiers to his company was one addict, to whom little attention was paid. Soon there were other evidences of addiction in the company. The officers investigated. It was only 30 days since the first addict was observed, and they found 22!
